

Dear Members and Friends of Wildflower Church:

What does Wildflower Church give to you? Do you receive inspiration from sermons, readings, music? Do you meet friends who share common values? Are you stimulated to think more deeply and broadly?

Are you encouraged to stretch yourself to do things you've not done before or to challenge yourself to push just a little beyond your comfort level?

Do you feel safe at Wildflower to question what you believe and to grow through that questioning? Are you learning to listen with an open heart, even when you don't agree with the speaker? Do you find ways to serve at Wildflower, to help bring a message of hope and healing to others?

And, now, what are you willing to give back to Wildflower Church? What can you give to the support of the church that gives so much to you?

In our New Member Litany, we promise to give of our time, our talent, and our treasure in support of each other and the programs that we value. When we live that promise, we can rest assured that our beloved community of Wildflower Church will continue to provide a place of comfort and inspiration, reassurance and challenge, laughter and tears, a place to bring our pain and brokenness for healing and our love for sharing.

Where else can you get that kind of return on your investment?

In hope and peace,

Jan Austin, President
